Bullet Points

- Line: I used vertical lines to express formal, traditional, pride, confident, and elegant qualities in these designs. I used high waists in both designs as well to elongate the body. I feel as though doing this adds to the romantic and classic feel of the designs. The elegance relates to the romantic part and the traditional qualities to the classic.
- Unity: In both designs I imagined a type of satin. Blue satin on the top and a light purple satin on the dress. This unity between the designs makes it organized which is a quality of the classic cluster. Another point of unity is in the top of the dress and the shirt. Both are corset like. I feel as though this detail leads to the romantic part of the designs because a quality of the romantic clusters is detail oriented.
- Color: The colors I used were light purple/lavender, light blue, and grey. I feel as though these colors are very traditional. These colors I feel would be classic but the value of them are romantic. I also kept with cool colors for both designs. The dress is monochromatic with different shades of purple.
- Texture: The smooth texture of the satin is very formal, cool, and soothing. I feel as though satin has very romantic qualities.
- Emphasis: There is emphasis in the blue top, corset top and leg slit in the dress. The blue top has emphasis in contrast for color. The dress has emphasis with skin. The emphasis on the leg and corset in the dress is a detail that adds to the romantic aspect.
